With 6 hrs to go, govt says no night curfew

CM's Office says decision to withdraw order was taken based on views of advisory panel, officials

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

FROM no to yes, then a change, and no again. This is how the State Government wavered on its decisions over the last three days on imposing a night curfew across the state. The move was planned in the face of a threat of the spread of SARS-CoV-2's new variant.

The night curfew between 11 pm and 5 am, which was finally decided to be imposed from the night of December 24 to January 2 morning, was withdrawn just six hours before it was to come into effect.

According to an official announcement from the Chief Minister's Office, the Technical Advisory Committee's (TAC) views that a night curfew was not needed finally prevailed. Officials and cabinet ministers, too, concurred with the TAC, it said. On Tuesday evening, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa had categorically denied that there will be any night curfew or lockdown. But, on Wednesday morning, the decision suddenly changed to imposing a night curfew from 10pm to 6 am from Wednesday night itself until January 2. On Wednesday evening, another change came with the curfew to begin from Thursday with the timings reduced by two hours, between 11 pm and 5 am. The standard operating procedures (SOPs) and guidelines were issued and everything was set for the night curfew to take effect from 11 pm on Thursday when, around 5 pm, came the change of mind for the third time, withdrawing the night curfew order.

Yediyurappa said the decision to impose night curfew was made as the new strain of SARS-CoV-2 virus, that causes Covid-19, was detected in Britain and it was already spreading infection in other countries. In order to stop this from entering and spreading in Karnataka, a decision was taken to impose night curfew as per the TAC's recommendation. But now, the TAC said it is not needed, and therefore the decision has been withdrawn, he said. CONTINUED ON: P7

Struggling UK gets its X'mas gift in last-gasp post-Brexit trade deal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

AFTER months of acrimonious talks, the United Kingdom (UK) and the European Union (EU) finally reached a post-Brexit trade agreement on Thursday — just in time to avert New Year chaos for cross-border traders and eventually bringing a sense of certainty to businesses.

The pact also averts the much-feared "no-deal" scenario that would have sparked economic turmoil and disruption to the flow of goods and medicines.

The deal, which will complete Britain's separation from the EU, will now go to British PM Boris Johnson and European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen for approval. The breakthrough came four-and-a-half years after the UK voted to leave the EU.

The agreement was delayed because deliberations had been stuck for months after the two sides were unable to reach consensus on certain areas. Gradually, talks whittled down differences between the two sides to three key issues — fair-competition rules, mechanisms for resolving future disputes and fishing rights. The rights of EU boats to trawl in British waters remained the last obstacle before it was also resolved.

However, some aspects of the future relationship remain unresolved.

K'TAKA AIMS TO BE ON TOP IN PUBLIC HEALTHCARE

Health and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar, who has been in the forefront of the battle against Covid-19, hopes for a "revolutionary health budget" in 2021. In many areas, the health infrastructure was found wanting during the pandemic. In the last three years, the budget allocation for health has never crossed 4 per cent. On Thursday, Sudhakar made a detailed presentation to the CM on upgrading facilities at primary and tertiary health centres with the aim of putting Karnataka on top in terms of public healthcare in the country. Nothing new in fresh govt letter: Farmer unions

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi/Chandigarh

A day after protesting farmers ruled out any further talks until the government "draws up a new agenda", the Centre wrote to them again on Thursday, reiterating it was open to negotiation and requested farmers to suggest a date and time for a meeting.

In the letter, joint secretary in the Union agriculture ministry Vivek Agarwal, stated the government is still ready to discuss all existing issues with the farm unions with an "open mind".

"It is important for the government to have talks with all farmers' unions of the country. The government has been talking with unions under the Sanyukt Morcha with an open mind and also desires to talk with you in the future as per your convenience," stated the two-page letter.

Farmer unions, however, termed the letter a "delaying tactic". Bharatiya Kisan Union, Punjab (Lakowal) General Secretary Harinder Singh Lakowal said the unions will soon hold a meeting to discuss and prepare a reply.

"In today's letter again, the government is beating around the bush. Prime Minister Narendra Modi should call the protesting farmers with a concrete proposal but he is trying to find and talk to a select few farmers at Kutch in Gujarat," Lakowal said.

In its latest letter, which is in response to the farmers' reply on Wednesday seeking "a concrete proposal" from the government, the Centre highlighted that it has already given written assurances on all issues raised by the unions in past meetings. It reiterated that the three bills have nothing to do with the minimum support price (MSP) issue for procurement, but assured the farmers that the government will continue to procure crops on MSP.

As things stand now, the agitating farmers are unwilling to stand down from their core demand for a complete withdrawal of the three contentious farm laws and a legal guarantee from the Centre on MSP. P9

No democracy in India: Rahul

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

CONGRESS leader Rahul Gandhi Thursday attacked Prime Minister Narendra Modi saying there is no democracy in the country and those speaking against the PM are labelled as terrorists.

A Congress delegation including Rahul, Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha Ghulam Nabi Azad and Leader of Congress in the Lok Sabha Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury met President Ram Nath Kovind and submitted two crore signatures in support of the agitating farmers along with a memorandum seeking the repeal the three farm sector laws.

"There is no democracy... Anyone trying to take power from him will be dubbed as terrorist and anti-national, be it farmers, labourers or Mohan Bhagwat (RSS chief). He will make sure the wealth of people is transferred to crony capitalists. He will call people anti-nationals, terrorists to transfer the wealth of these people to three-four crony capitalists close to them," Rahul alleged after meeting Kovind.

"The government said that these laws are in favour of the farmers but the country is seeing that it is the farmers who are against these legislations. The farmers are in pain and also dying. The prime minister will have to listen to them. The way the agri laws were passed in the Monsoon session of Parliament in September, without any discussion and consultation, they need to be withdrawn," Rahul said.

Several Congress leaders, including party general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, were detained as they were stopped from staging a protest march to Rashtrapti Bhavan.

10 unions boycott meet on framing labour code rules

New Delhi: Several trade and labour unions on Thursday boycotted a virtual meeting called by the Centre for tripartite consultation to frame rules for four labour codes, saying physical presence of all stakeholders is necessary for such an exercise. They also sought separate meetings to discuss each code threadbare. As for the RSS affiliate Bharatiya Mazdoor Sangh (BMS), it participated in the meeting and demanded that the new wage definition, limiting allowances at 50% of the total salary, should not be frozen. PANDEMIC HEAT

It's down to a trickle at major temples

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

Even the Gods have not been spared. The state-managed temples in Karnataka, which include some of the richest ones in the country, have seen their revenues plummet this year, courtesy the Covid-19 pandemic. The top 12 temples in the state, which together had collected Rs 317 crore last year, have seen earnings of only Rs 18.6 crore so far.

Consider this. The famous Kukke Subramanya temple in Dakshina Kannada district, whose annual revenue is over Rs

90 crore, has managed only Rs 4.2 crore in revenue this year. The Kollur Mookambika temple in Udupi district, which sees revenue of Rs 45-50 crore every year, got only Rs 4.5 crore. This is for the first time that these temples received the lowest revenue.

The Chamundeshwari temple atop Chamundi Hills in Mysuru, whose earnings last year was Rs 35.23 crore, has been able to collect only Rs 74 lakh this year. The Srikanteshwara temple at Nanjangud near Mysuru, considered the Kashi of the South, could generate only Rs 12.6 lakh revenue as against Rs 20.8 crore last year.

There are 34,559 temples under the Endowment Department in the state. CONTINUED ON: P4

After good response, more special trains mooted

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

WITH four out of six pairs of unreserved passenger trains launched by the Bengaluru Railway Division on December 7 generating a good response, a proposal has been sent to the Railway Board to launch more special train pairs.

Commercial department figures from December 7-20 show that the train between KSR Bengaluru and Marikuppam had 25,331 passengers from the KSR end and 28,749 in the return direction.

The trains between KSR and Hosur and between Yesvantpur and Hassan have seen poor patronage. The KSR-Hosur train has the lowest occupancy with just 526 passengers in the onward direction in the 14 days while it had 621 passengers from the Hosur end. Occupancy has ranged from 3-9%.

A N Krishna Reddy, Senior Divisional Commercial Manager, Bengaluru Division, said the KSR-Marikuppam and Bangarpet-Mysuru trains had become popular. Occupancy crossed 200% on many days and even touched 295% a day. "Passengers boarding at intervening stations pushed up occupancy. We have proposed more trains on this stretch," he said.

"For trains not generating good response, we plan to fine-tune timings or extend them to nearby stations. Cancellation will be the last option," Reddy said.

These new trains have been proposed: KSR-Kengeri-KSR, Hosur-Baiyappanahalli-Hosur, Yesvantpur-KSR-YPR, Bengaluru Cantonment to Bangarpet via Yelahanka, Bangarpet-Yesvantpur-Bangarpet, Yesvantpur-Arisikere-YPR, Yesvantpur-Dharmapuri-Yesvantpur, KSR-Devanahalli-KSR, Devanahalli-Yelahanka-Devanahalli and KSR-Devanahalli-Bengaluru Cantonment; two pairs between KSR-Jolarpettai-KSR, KSR-MYS-KSR and these unidirectional trains: Yesvantpur-Bangarpet, Kolar-KSR and Yesvantpur-KSR station.

Child petitions HC to ban traffic in Cubbon Park

Father of 5-month-old has said the lung space must be saved for future generations

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a one-of-its-kind incident, judges of the Karnataka High Court were surprised to hear a petition filed by five-month-old Kian Medhi Kumar, to ban traffic movement inside the city's prime lung space, Cubbon Park.

The petition has given a fillip to all those campaigning for a traffic-free Cubbon Park, demanding that the government ban thoroughfare to save the last few lung spaces in Bengaluru.

The petitioner is being represented by his father Rakesh Prabal Kumar, an HR professional. Kumar is a resident of Connaught Road and visits Cubbon Park every day, and brings Kian every week to enjoy its environs.

The judges were pleasantly surprised at the petitioner and even wondered whether Kian had even visited Cubbon Park. They were delighted when they learnt that he does so every week and is very happy too, Rakesh told TNIE.

"Kian represents the future generation as a petitioner, for whom the park needs to be saved. Bengaluru's pollution levels are rising, and the park is for him and all children. He loves to visit the park and it needs to be saved for them," he said.

In a similar incident, infants had petitioned the Supreme Court in 2015, seeking a ban on firecrackers, citing the impact of pollution on their health.

Members of the Cubbon Park Walkers' Association said: "Many campaigns have been held in the past couple of years, asking the government to stop the entry of vehicles inside Cubbon Park. This young petitioner is only a ray of hope to save the lung space.

It is very touching to see and learn how the park plays an essential role in the upbringing of children. It makes us realise the connect we all have with Cubbon Park, when we played here as children, but have now forgotten. The lung space in central Bengaluru is crucial for the city."

Kian's father filed the public interest litigation, seeking directions to ban vehicular movement in the park, saying it is affecting his health. The petition was filed on November 9, and came up for hearing on December 23.

On hearing the plea, a division bench of Justice BV Nagarathna and Justice Nataraj Rangaswamy issued notice to the Secretary, department of horticulture, Additional Commissioner of Police (Traffic), Karnataka State Disaster Management Authority and Directorate of Urban Land Transport Department.

Due to the lockdown, Cubbon Park was closed from March 25 till May 20. After that, access was restricted to walkers, joggers and cyclists at specified times.

After the inspection, he told the media that Smart City works on four roads - Race Course Road, Raj Bhavan Road, T Chowdaiah Road near the planetarium and Haynes Road would be completed by the end of the month. He also said that by end of January 2021, 10 more roads will be completed and ready for people to use. He also directed the BWSSB and Bengaluru Smart City Ltd team to work in tandem to complete the road works under the Smart City project.

He pulled up contractors, engineers and officials from BBMP, Bescom, BWSSB, KPTCL and other civic agencies for delays, piled up construction debris and improper road works. He also told them to ensure there is proper coordination and that all works are completed on time in a proper manner. Laying of sewage and drinking water pipelines should be completed at the earliest and in such a manner that the roads are not dug up again.

BBMP Administrator Gaurav Gupta inspects Smart City works on Thursday | MEGHANA SASTRY

He inspected Dickensons Road, Ulsoor road, Kamaraj Road, Commercial Street, Raj Bhavan Road and surrounding areas. He told BBMP officials to ensure that all dug up roads are tarred again and that the footpaths in the city are pedestrian-friendly and free of transformers.

Later in the day, Gupta also held a progress review meeting on the ongoing works at Chickpet, Avenue Road and surrounding areas. He expressed his displeasure at the improper work being done in the Central Business District stretches. He pulled up officials for not being able to clear the sludge from the drains, not clearing garbage piles from the streets, not repairing footpaths and slow development works. He instructed BBMP officials to complete the works before the next meeting.

Gaurav Gupta also instructed the officials to prepare and submit a blueprint of sewage and storm water drains and take up repair work immediately.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

25th December: Long ago today was celebrated as the birthday of the 'unconquered Sun'. It was also sacred to Mithras, a great Persian hero who was revered as the lord of the zodiac. Some people said that he was responsible for the great ages which divide history into different periods. Some people say we are entering a new age right now!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)

Your stars begin to look simultaneously more relaxed and more passionate, which means that you may be propelled headlong into a bout of sheer pleasure. Creative activities now require boundless energy and limitless commitment. In fact, there's room for deep satisfaction in even the dullest of duties.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)

The prospect of a move of home or some other major domestic upheaval must now look more attractive. At the very least you should bring as much colour into your home and family life as you possibly can. That's no more than you deserve. Plus, what's good for you could be right for everyone.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)

It's decision time. Or is it? The fact is that while you may be pushed into making a choice, probably an emotional one, it looks very certain that whatever is agreed now will be altered again next month. Mind you, you will very soon make unexpected gains in a personal area. That's the good news!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)

This is certainly a rare moment of passion. If all is calm on the surface, beware, for underneath you're like a seething volcano waiting to erupt. It seems that your emotional security is at stake. You just need to feel that you're appreciated. That's all!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)

There's a real planetary traffic jam in your sign today, with planets shuffling here, there and everywhere. You may permit yourself a spell of confusion, and by all means wallow in your emotions. If there are important matters to deal with, call the experts!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)

One positive way to use your current planetary energy is to dip into mystical and spiritual realities, searching for the pattern underlying your day-to-day affairs. Some sort of selfless involvement in a charity or other noble enterprise is now increasingly likely.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)

Everything hinges around what friends feel, say and do. The fact is, though, that they may be saying one thing and doing something else! One way or the other, your social stars are looking more intense than at any time since last year. If there's any chance that you can help soothe a loved one's nerves, please do so!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

The professional dimension in your horoscope is looking so strong that, if you're unhappy at work, the pressure to change jobs in mid-stream may be irresistible. It's also now time to seek status in your community. Perhaps you'll be turning the clock back, completing a task that you began a long time ago.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)

This is one of those rare moments when you all too easily get stuck in some sort of dogma about the way people should behave. If you get too upset about rules and arbitrary expectations, you'll miss out on the richness of day-to-day human experience. You'll also sacrifice a passing opportunity.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)

There does now seem to be some sort of turning point in your financial affairs, perhaps one which will colour your prosperity for the years to come. Don't be afraid to turn the clock back for, if you lay the past to rest, you will be much better at dealing with the present.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)

You really must listen to other people today, and even bend over backwards to see their points of view. This may go against the grain, but is a good strategy because you need to let partners get things off their chest. You'll be able to take the lead again as soon as the air is cleared.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)

Busy times lie ahead. There is a great deal of work to do, and that doesn't only refer to paid employment. Relationships have to be worked at as well, and you should remember that the best partnerships must be based on genuinely shared activities and interests.

THE government plans to overhaul the Primary Health Centres (PHCs) to ensure quality healthcare to every citizen. The revamped PHCs will function 24/7.

Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar made a presentation to Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa on Thursday detailing plans to upgrade public healthcare facilities.

Sudhakar later told media there are 2,380 PHCs in the state, each catering to a population of 30,000. The aim is to build new PHCs to fill the gap and upgrade existing ones. Each PHC has 6 beds, which will be increased to 12-20.

Each PHC would cost about Rs 6-8 crore. The two-acre complex will comprise an administrative block spread over 20,000 sq ft and a PHC. The state will manage them from the funds received under the National Health Mission, the minister said.

The number of doctors at each PHC will be increased from one to three or four. There will be a woman doctor and an AYUSH doctor instead of a single medical officer.

One of the major reasons for the reluctance of doctors to serve in rural areas is the lack of proper accommodation. "To address this and to ensure staff availability at any given point of time, the model PHCs will include residential facilities with 2 BHK housing for doctors and 1 BHK for nurse and ANM staff," Sudhakar said.

The PHCs will include radiology sections with X-ray and ultrasound facilities, a minor operation theatre and casualty and labour rooms.

"The building will also include facilities like Yoga and wellness centres, and camera and TV to facilitate expert doctor consultation through tele-medicine," he said.

PHCs, tertiary health centres and the super specialty hospitals will be connected through the internet.

Community health centres will also be upgraded. Taluk and district hospitals will be modernized, he said. District hospitals with 200 beds will be upgraded to 500-700 beds. Quality care will be made available in all districts.

"We want these specialised treatments to be available not just in Bengaluru or Hubballi, but in all districts," the minister said.

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE efforts of the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) in tackling the Covid-19 pandemic during the lockdown by setting up a war room have been recognised by the World Economic Forum.

The recognition was announced late on Wednesday night with the release of the 'Technology and Data Governance in Cities- Indian Cities at the Forefront of the Fight Against Covid-19'- report of December 2020. Along with Bengaluru, Surat and Pimpri Chinchwad have also been recognised.

Former BBMP Commissioner T K Anil Kumar, said on social media, "Technologies to identify, control and combat the widespread of #covid in Bangalore". Pleased to share that work during the lockdown under my tenure as commissioner, #BBMP ; is recognised and well documented by @wef." (sic).

He told The New Indian Express: "It is a documentation they have done. In the report, they have recorded what was done in Bengaluru as it was one of the first of the few cities to have created a war room. They have appreciated the efforts of how the city fought the pandemic and how technology was used for end-to-end solutions to combat the pandemic."

Interestingly, the state government has not yet taken note of the report.

Three global cities Tel Aviv, Lisbon and New York City were also assessed in terms of their responsiveness to the pandemic, together with underlying mechanisms for technology and data governance.

In the report, the researchers noted that local authorities used their 'COVID-19 War Rooms' to effectively coordinate and monitor activities of various state and city agencies. Through the War Rooms, cities brought together civil society, local businesses and others on a single platform through their websites and mobile applications to collaborate with the city administration.

The report said: "Based on data collected manually and through various sensors, cities carried out data modelling and predictive analytics at the COVID-19 War Room using dashboards, scenario visualization and simulation models to identify the virus spread and plan their response. In the case of global cities, they tackled the pandemic in a similar manner, with city authorities effectively coordinating with various city agencies in planning and monitoring their response. The cities quickly put in place a robust mechanism using existing smart solutions to ensure health care measures to tackle the spread of the virus, manage the lockdown and maintain effective communication channels with citizens. The quick adoption of technology solutions by Indian smart cities was facilitated by specific measures instituted by the Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs (MoHUA), the nodal ministry for the Smart Cities Mission."

Mask was on, forced to pay fine: MLA

ENS @Bengaluru

MUDIGERE MLA M P Kumaraswamy has written to Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai, alleging that the police forced him to pay a fine, though he was wearing a mask.

In a letter to the minister, Kumaraswamy said that around 12.30 pm on Thursday, he was on his way to the Legislators' Home in a rented car and was stuck in traffic in front of Seshadripuram Police Station, a policeman came near the car, and forced the driver to roll down the tinted window and asked him to pay the fine of Rs 250 even though he was wearing a face mask.

Kumaraswamy, who is a BJP MLA, told TNIE, "I always use a mask since I suffered from Covid-19. But the police started arguing that we were not wearing the masks properly. I was really frustrated with the behaviour of the police who were misusing their power. Since I am a responsible person, I did not argue with them and paid the fine. I wanted to bring the incident to the notice of home minister."

A police officer from the Seshadripuram police station said he learned of the incident, but a senior officer has to look into the matter to take action against the personnel who fined the legislator.

I always use a mask since I suffered from Covid-19. But the police started arguing that we were not wearing the masks properly. I was really frustrated with the behaviour of the police

APMC ACT: CM to meet farmers today

Yediyurappa to convince ryots on how new amendment will help them sell produce anywhere

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AS farmers in the state are apprehensive about amendments made to the Agricultural Produce Marketing Committee (APMC) Act, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa will on Friday meet farmers to address their concerns, even as the BJP government at the Centre is still locked in a standoff with farmers who are protesting against the new farm laws.

In the 'Krishi Samman Scheme' Day, organised on the occasion of former Prime Minister late Atal Bihari Vajpayee's birth anniversary, the chief minister will meet farmers at the APMC Market in Yashwanthpur and has reportedly planned to convince farmers about the necessity of amendments to the Act.

"The chief minister will explain to the farmers how the amendment will benefit them and there is nothing to worry about the changes made. He will tell them why the amendment was needed and how it was introduced with the concept of 'my yield, my right'. He will also convince them that APMCs won't be shut down as claimed by opposition parties and it will the right of the farmers to sell their produces wherever they wish to, including APMCs. Besides, he will also discuss various welfare schemes introduced by the government for the farming community," a source said.

The amendment to the APMC Act was passed in both the legislative Houses, amidst a walkout by Congress legislators. There were widespread protests against the amendment by farmer organisations in the state. The Congress had termed the Bill the 'last nail on the coffin of farmers' and had supported the protests organised by farmer organisations.

CM to participate in Pradhan Mantri Kisan Samman event

After meeting the farmers, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa will take part in the 'Pradhan Mantri Kisan Samman' virtual event, where Prime Minister Narendra Modi will take part.

Modi will digitally deposit a total of Rs 18,000 crore into the bank accounts of nine crore farmers, under the 'Pradhan Mantri Kisan Samman Nidhi' scheme.

SUDHAKAR'S WISHLIST: BIG HEALTH BUDGET NEXT YR

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH 2020 putting a tremendous pressure on the healthcare system because of the Covid pandemic -- unprecedented for this generation -- Health and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar has one major item on his wish-list for the next year: That Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa present a "revolutionary health budget" in 2021.

The Covid-19 pandemic tested the medical fraternity to its limit and in many areas, the infrastructure was found wanting for the population to avail medical facilities easily.

Considering this, the Health Minister, during his exclusive interaction with The New Indian Express on Thursday, said, "Chief Minister Yediyurappa is committed and wants to ensure Karnataka will be the best state in terms of providing healthcare to citizens. I hope for a revolutionary health budget in 2021."

Over the last three years, the health budget in the state has never crossed 4 percent of the total allocation. In 2017-2018, it was even lesser, at 3 percent. In 2020-21, Rs 10,296 crore was allocated for the health and family welfare sector with a budget provision of 2,846 crore, of which Rs 1,433 crore was for urban healthcare services and Rs 1,413 crore for the rural sector.

Dr Edmond Fernandes, CEO, Centre for Health and Development, headquartered in Mangaluru, said, "The next budget must focus on putting public health at the heart of development. District health offices must invest in epidemiologists and community medicine physicians. Addressing cascading risks are equally crucial with pandemics, climate change, natural disasters etc. The government has been doing good work, but affordable healthcare is a dream we must realise in our lifetime."

Dr K Sudhakar, Health and Medical Education Minister

HEALTHCARE MANPOWER

On how they will deal with a second wave, if there is one, Dr Sudhakar said they are increasing human resources in Primary Health Centres, Community Health Centres and government hospitals. In the last six months, 1,000 postgraduate medical students have been enrolled for compulsory government health service. "1,500 more healthcare workers will be enrolled in the health department, apart from 2,500 doctors who will also be recruited. We will not have problems with human resources next year," he said.

VACCINATORS

Dr Sudhakar said one lakh people have been recruited to be vaccinators in rural and urban areas to administer the upcoming Covid-19 vaccine. "30,000 facilities have been identified to store the corona vaccine. We need 25 to 30 walk-in refrigerators and walk-in freezers and already have 10-12. The remaining will either be built by the state or sent by the Centre. We have worked out logistics of delivering the vaccine and are also holding discussions with private companies. We are in the right direction and preparation is on for the last two to three months," he said.

VACCINE PERFORMANCE

He opined that the vaccine will be capable of handling any strain of virus, in light of the Covid variant found in the UK. The vaccine will likely need two doses, with the booster dose 21 to 28 days after the first one. This works in increasing immunity and generation of antibodies, which will be valid for six to 12 months, depending on the vaccine. Just as what is seen with influenza and flu vaccines, Covid shots too may have to be taken yearly, he said, adding that virus mutations are expected.

INOCULATION NOT MANDATORY

"No vaccine can be made mandatory, but this one I presume, will be taken by most people. The government won't deny the vaccine to anyone nor force it on anyone. We have not decided if we will charge people for it. However, till date, every facet of Covid care, right from testing to treatment, has been provided free to people under the government quota," he said, adding that the Central Government will procure the vaccines and send them to all states. In the first wave of the pandemic, government health infrastructure was plagued with manpower shortage, he admitted.

'Salaries of temple staffers not affected'

OF the temples under the Endowment Department, 175 temples are Class A (whose annual revenue is above Rs 25 lakh), 163 are Class B (annual income between Rs 5 and Rs 25 lakh) and the remaining are Class C temples (annual income less than Rs 5 lakh). All temples were shut from March due to Covid-19 and the lockdown, and reopened only in September.

"Temples see more visitors during summer holidays and a lot of revenue is generated during that season. Also, during festivals and fairs, a large number of devotees would visit temples. Though we have online bookings, many prefer personally visiting temples to make their offerings. But this time, since they were closed, revenue has dipped," reasoned a senior official from the Endowment Department.

Speaking to TNIE, Endowment Minister Kota Srinivas Poojari said this year has been unusual and revenue dropped drastically. However, salaries of endowment temple staffers have not been affected, he said. "Our temples are self-sufficient to pay salaries of their staff. Salaries were paid from the interest earned on bank deposits and other benefits," he said.

PM must intervene, ask BSY to quit over setback in land case, says Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister and leader of opposition Siddaramaiah on Thursday said that the BJP high command should intervene and ask Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa to step down.

Talking to the media, Siddaramaiah pointed to a petition by Yediyurappa to quash the criminal proceedings pending against him in an alleged illegal denotification of a land case which was dismissed by the Karnataka High Court on Tuesday. He said, "The chief minister a facing a serious case against him and he has no moral right to continue in the post. If he has any respect for the rule of law and democracy, he should not continue in the post even for a second. I demand that he step down immediately."

Siddaramaiah said that he has already earlier commented that the BJP high command wanted to change the chief minister.

"Now, this case is a strong weapon against Yediyurappa for the high command. I hope he will step down on his own. He should do it if he has any self-respect. In case he doesn't resign, the BJP high command and Prime Minister Narendra Modi should intervene and make him resign. He (Modi) should do it as he keeps saying 'Na Khaunga, Na Khane Dunga'," he added.

Citing the court observation, Siddaramaiah said the court has sought a thorough probe monitored by the Lok Ayukta court. "If the accused himself is the chief minister, how can any agency conduct a fair and impartial probe? Naturally, they will be under pressure and there will be no hope of an impartial investigation. Yediyurappa should resign and allow for an impartial probe," he added.

Further, he said that the Congress will discuss an action plan to pressurise Yediyurappa to resign.

'JDS, BJP had secret alliance in previous polls'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

ALLEGING that the JDS and BJP have a secret alliance, KPCC spokesperson Lakshman said here on Thursday that they were in hand in glove in the previous election just to defeat former Chief Minister Siddaramaiah.

Responding to former chief minister H D Kumaraswamy's recent remarks on Siddaramaiah and KPCC president D K Shivakumar, Lakshman hit out at the JDS leader and asked him to admit that his party has joined hands with the BJP. "The JDS and BJP were working together secretly in Badami, Chamundeshwari and Varuna Assembly constituencies," he said.

He further alleged that the JDS fielded weak candidates in several Assembly constituencies, including at Malleswaram in Bengaluru where present deputy chief minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan contested, to help BJP. "Kumaraswamy must not forget that JDS is not his family trust," he said.

Reacting to the Karnataka High Court dismissing Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa's petition to quash an investigation into a land de-notification case, he said that the CM must resign from his post and make way for an impartial probe.

Village goes green, promotes community farming

KARTHIK K K @Chamarajanagar

IN a novel initiative, a community farming experiment has been started at a village of MM Hills Wildlife Sanctuary, in association with the forest department.

The initiative is aimed at promoting sustainable agriculture practices, besides helping the villagers get good revenue.

The Karnataka Forest Department, under the eco-development plan, has given 5 acres of land for the people of this remote village.

Under this model, the people will not use chemical fertilizers and envisage sustainable agriculture which can improve the environment and preserve resources. Taking this into consideration, the forest department has installed a solar-powered water facility.

The residents of the village discuss sustainable ways of farming | EXPRESS

A total of six to seven women farmers have already joined this initiative and are supported by several others.

Besides growing vegetables including tomatoes, chilli, coriander and cucumber among others, sugarcane and millets will also be grown in this 5-acre land, which will be maintained by these women.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, V Yedukondalu, Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF), MM Hills Wildlife Sanctuary, said, "The initiative was launched marking the Farmers' Day celebration on Wednesday. As part of this model project, native and local varieties of crops will be used and the localities will be sensitised on smart and intelligent farming."

"Earlier, the farmers used to get revenue of Rs 10,000 to Rs 15,000 per acre. We want this to grow up to Rs 1 lakh through this sustainable model," he said.

Sankonatti Gram Panchayat, falling under Athani taluk, has 56 members and is the biggest panchayat in the state | EXPRESS

Savadi, Kumathalli groups fight over Sankonatti GP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Belagavi

A BATTLE of prestige between the groups of Deputy Chief Minister Laxman Savadi and MLA Mahesh Kumathalli is on at the Sankonatti Gram Panchayat (GP), which is the biggest in the state. Both the BJP factions are fighting tooth and nail to achieve a majority in this 56-member panchayat that falls in Athani taluk where the highest number of 149 candidates are in the fray. The election here is scheduled for December 27.

Besides Sankonatti, the GP covers several areas of Athani suburbs and villages like Hosatti, Vadratti, Badakambitota and Kesalalatota. The attraction for the contestants here is the large amount of funds allocated by the government in the budget. Many contestants have already hosted several parties and held events to woo voters. Almost every day, sumptuous meals are offered by contestants to a large number of people and that money and liquor also is said to be distributed secretly.

Several villagers from Athani suburbs said that political leaders are keen to ensure victory of their groups as vacant lands in the region are in big demand that fetch rich dividends to buyers. As the GP, with a population of 27,000, covers a vast area, funds are also being released abundantly by the government every year, they said.

The BJP is divided into four different groups and two of them are promoted by Savadi and Kumathalli. The group promoted by Savadi has been in power in the GP for the past three terms, while the other headed by Kumathalli was in power for three consecutive terms prior to that.

According to voters in Vadratti, panchayat members have focused on the development of only Sankonatti and neglected all other areas so far. "We want candidates who ensure development of all parts of GP to win the election this time," they added.

HC: SC, ST Commission does not have powers to function as a court

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Commission for the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes does not have the powers to take up the role of a court or adjucatory tribunal, the Karnataka High Court said, while quashing an order passed by the Commission.

IN THE HC

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order recently while allowing a petition filed by M B Siddalingaswamy, a superintendent in the office of the Director of the Department of Pre-University Education.

Siddalingaswamy questioned the Commission's order dated November 11, 2016, directing the state government to accord retrospective seniority to K R Muralidhar with effect from September 17, 2012, and grant him all consequential monetary benefits, addition to correct date of entry into service of superintendent in the seniority list.

However, Justice Nagaprasanna said that Sections 8 and 10 of the Karnataka State Commission for the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes Act makes it "abundantly clear" that the Commission is not empowered to adjudicate on the rights of parties.

He quashed the Commission's order, saying, "The power vested with the Commission of Inquiry and submission of a report cannot be extended to adjudicate all disputes between an individual and a State or a statutory authority. The powers conferred do not contemplate that the Commission can examine matters like a civil court and adjudicate dispute and pronounce either an interim or final decision, or issue a direction of the kind that is issued in the case on hand," the Judge said.

The Judge observed that the Commission cannot be construed to be a Tribunal or a forum discharging functions of a judicial character or court.

Illegal sand mining racket at Vrishabhavati River busted

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

A city-based organisation which works for human rights and the State Geology department joined forces to stop illegal sand mining taking place at one stretch of Vrishabhavati River in Kengeri recently. Members of the group Rise UP for Rights noticed sand being taken from the river on the night of December 7, said K Hemant, a member and social activist. "We went to the police station in Kengeri and they asked us to approach officials in the geology department," he said.

They submitted videos and photographs geology department officials who agreed to meet them at the spot for a surprise check.

Geologist K G Chandrashekhar of the Department of Mines and Geology, said, "Three of us and four members of the group visited the place early in the morning of December 15. We got hold of one person, V Kumar, loading black soil on the tractor. However, three others who were inside the water removing sand escaped."

The cops arrived and seized the tractor with sand from him and took him into custody, he added. He named three others Byrappa, Ravi and Reddy as his accomplices.

Kengeri Inspector C Vasant said he was posted recently. "A case has been filed in the ACMM court. We are taking it very seriously," he said.

Governor's policy address contains remarks against new farm laws rolled out by Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ T'Puram

EVEN as the stand-off between the state government and the Governor continues, the stage is set for another possible confrontation between the two. It's reliably learnt that the Governor's policy address, approved by the state cabinet on Thursday, contains remarks against the controversial farm laws rolled out by the Centre.

The Policy Address, to be read out by the Governor at the beginning of the Budget session - scheduled to begin from January 8 - makes a mention of the Left government's opposition to the farm laws. The cabinet issued its nod for the policy address prepared by a cabinet sub-committee on Thursday.

"The government's stance would naturally be made clear in the policy address. We feel that he may choose to skip that part or page, and table the address. Former Governor P Sathasivam had once done that. The Governor will have to read the address prepared by the cabinet," said top sources.

The LDF government had included anti-CAA remarks in the last policy address, to which Governor Arif Mohammed Khan had made his displeasure evident in the course of his address. Though initially reluctant, he had however later read it out in its entirety, with his dissent remarks.

Students demand online exams, take to Twitter

Bengaluru: Opposing offline exams announced by Visvesvaraya Technological University, engineering college have started their second Twitter campaign "#vtukillingstudents" which trended on Friday. Students took to Twitter demanding online exams. Aman Yada said, "As we know coronavirus is again gripping the world, VTU is putting students' life at risk by holding offline exams from January 18, which will obviously trigger the already increasing number of covid cases." Even after the parents' association wrote a letter to the chief minister requesting him to conduct exams online, and requests to the university's Vice Chancellor Karisidappa failed, students first started #vtucancelofflineexams which was trending on Twitter by Wednesday afternoon, he said. A tweet by one Anand singh said, "Who told him that other universities have miserably failed? Did he not see NIT's, IIT's, DU and many other universities conducting smooth online examinations?"

Get ready to live in a printed home

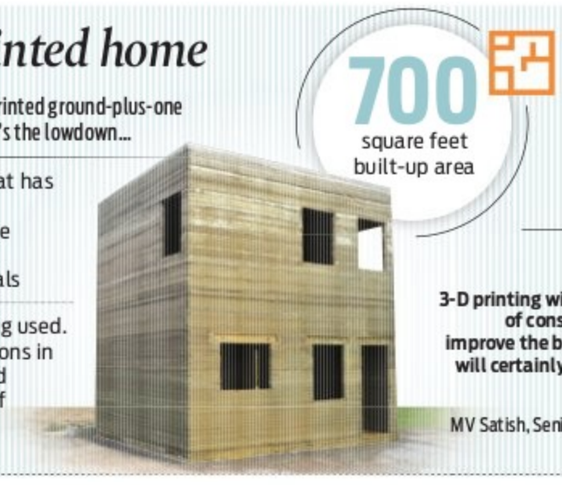
A private company has managed to build India's first 3-D printed ground-plus-one floor building with reinforcements, in Kancheepuram. Here's the lowdown...

106 printing hours taken to make the building

30-35 yrs average life expectancy of the building; same as conventional homes

The concrete mix that has been used is made indigenously with the regularly available construction materials

Welded mesh is being used. This satisfies provisions in the Indian Codes and optimizes the cost of construction



700 square feet built-up area

The building was printed with both vertical reinforcement bars and horizontal distributors using welded mesh that satisfy provisions in the Indian Codes

3-D printing will not only accelerate the pace of construction but also significantly improve the build quality. This achievement will certainly give a huge fillip for the mass housing segment

Watcher dies in jumbo attack

ENS @ Bengaluru

GURURAJ (52), a watcher at Nagarhole Tiger Reserve, died in an elephant attack on Thursday while on duty at Doddalla beat.

The incident happened between 3 and 4 pm when he was on foot patrolling along with two other watchers. Gururaj sustained severe injuries while the other two escaped with minor ones. He succumbed to his injuries on the way to the hospital. Gururaj had served as a cook in the reserve forest for more than 25 years and was made to undertake patrolling from the last three years.

"It was shocking that he was made a part of the patrolling team. He did not have proper training in handling such situations. He did not run to escape, which perhaps led to this tragic incident," said a retired forest official. Gururaj, despite his long years of service, was still a contract employee. A request will be made to the government to give him ex-gratia and his family employment, said a senior forest official.

Members of all parties wanted curfew withdrawn

AFTER the Chief Minister announced night curfew on Wednesday, a section of people – especially vendors and hoteliers including pubs and bars owners who were worried about their business – had expressed concerns over having night curfew at a time when the Covid-19 numbers were on the decline, and especially since the last few days of the year are profitable for them, considering the festive atmosphere.

The hospitality sector, which has borne losses during the lockdown and after, was hoping to get some business in the last week of December. Cutting across party lines, several political leaders, too, appealed to the CM to withdraw the night curfew plan.

This is not the first time that the CM has taken such a U-turn. In August this year, the government had banned gatherings and public installations of pandals and idols during Ganesha Chathurti due to increasing number of Covid-19 cases across the state. But, then too, under pressure, the CM reversed the decision and allowed Ganesha Chathurti public gatherings in a restricted manner. In November, during Deepavali, Yediyurappa announced a ban on firecrackers. Again, after opposition, he altered his order and said "green crackers" would be allowed, but there was no clarity among the public what that meant.

PEOPLE MUST FOLLOW NORMS, SAYS CM

The CM has now appealed to the public to wear masks, maintain social distance and avoid stepping out of the house unnecessarily. Besides, the State Government's earlier restrictions of gathering in large numbers for New Year's Eve and the New Year continues to remain in force. The government circular issued by Chief Secretary TM Vijay Bhaskar states that no get-togethers in large numbers will be allowed for Christmas and New Year. Bursting of green crackers is, however, allowed.

ABHAYA MURDER CASE VERDICT A CLOSURE, BUT NOT JUSTICE

The verdict in Kerala's sensational Abhaya murder case is being hailed as a triumph of justice. It's a fact that the case survived multiple botched investigations, some forceful cover-up attempts and serious legal challenges spanning courts at various levels to finally culminate in the conviction of a priest and a nun. But it also took 28 long years. While it's indeed a victory for those who fought hard and relentlessly to bring out the truth, the long delay is a sad reflection on the criminal justice system. It's a case where almost the entire system conspired against the truth, save a few individuals—some activists, investigators and judges—who ensured that truth, ultimately, prevailed.

The special CBI court in Thiruvananthapuram that held Father Thomas Kottoor and Sister Sephy guilty and sentenced them to life imprisonment for the 1992 murder also pointed out some of these manipulations. While the initial police investigation after Sister Abhaya, a novice of the Knanaya Catholic Church, was found dead in the well of her convent in Kottayam and the subsequent crime branch probe hurriedly concluded that it was a case of suicide, the CBI teams that stepped in later too failed to make any headway. It was only after courts rejected repeated attempts to close the case as unproven that the CBI made the breakthrough. Even then, though the charge sheet was filed in 2009, the trial could begin only 10 years later because of the many legal battles that went on.

No effort was spared to thwart justice in the case and those who wanted to protect the accused tried to bend the system to their will—and almost succeeded. Police were allowed to destroy evidence and a CBI investigator who initially pursued the murder angle was forced into retirement. Many witnesses turned hostile. But some stood their ground—one of them a former thief. An activist continued his pursuit for justice despite being shunned by family and facing murder attempts.

Some investigators did their job and a judge delivered the verdict. After almost three decades, the Abhaya verdict is more of a closure to a long-drawn case than justice.

NAVEEN'S WAY TO KEEP BJP AT BAY

Many regional parties are under pressure from the BJP that seems to be in no mood to relent in its quest to create new bastions ahead of the 2024 general elections. Odisha CM Naveen Patnaik has sensed this and is moving fast. A master of realpolitik, he has once again revived the issue of Odisha's linguistic identity and Odia pride and brought this to the centre of his party's political stance. The just-concluded BJD State Executive, the party's highest policymaking body, and the BJD State Council meeting saw Naveen pitching Odisha and Odia identity—be it linguistic uniqueness, culture, Lord Jagannath, Mahanadi river—before party workers and exhorting them to make this an emotive issue for the people. He again raked up the Centre-state matter including the oft-raised special category status for the state and accused national parties (read BJP) of not being interested in working for Odisha.

While this may be dismissed by opponents as 'old wine in a new bottle' as Naveen has frequently made such noises earlier, the move is not without thought or strategy. The man who has been ruling without any credible opposition for the last 20 years has never been complacent. His brand of politics has consistently evolved to ensure that the public mood stays in his favour. The Odisha and Odia thrust is just an extension of a keenly worked-out plan that has been in implementation over the last two years. The grand multi-crore projects to transform the Jagannath Temple and its periphery into a world-class heritage destination along with similar moves at Bhubaneswar's Lingaraj temple and other major shrines have been enshrining the political message in the voters' subconscious day after day. The CM has spearheaded Odia language and culture preservation and promotion efforts through his Heritage Cabinet, possibly the only one of its kind in the country. In a way, he has been chipping away at the saffron core of the BJP by appropriating the religious sentiments. The test of his reoriented strategy is not far. The urban body polls and panchayat elections are closing in. As one who has always remained ahead of the curve, the five-time CM has begun preparing the ground for the polls. How successful this is will be seen in less than a year.

Severe weather-related phenomena like cyclones, tornados, cloud bursts, etc., are increasing in number all over the world in the last few years. This may partly be attributable to global warming. However, an exact correlation is yet to be established because of the complex interaction between land, ocean, atmosphere and radiation from the Sun.

A tropical cyclone is a storm system characterised by a low-pressure centre and numerous thunderstorms that produce strong winds and flooding rains. Generally, they form over warm ocean waters within 20 degrees either side of the equator. They feed on heat released when moist air rises, resulting in condensation of water vapour contained in the air; so they lose strength once they move over land. Although their effects on humans can be devastating, they relieve drought conditions. They also carry heat and energy away from the tropics and towards temperate latitudes, making them an important part of the global atmospheric circulation mechanism.

Many tropical cyclones develop from loosely organised cloud systems around a weak disturbance when atmospheric conditions are favourable. Tropical systems move by steering winds in the upper troposphere. Under favourable conditions, the disturbance intensifies by developing into deep clouds around the central low pressure area.

India has a long coastline stretching over 7,000 km; so tropical cyclones are frequent. Most originate as a deep depression in the Bay of Bengal and move in the north-westerly direction. On the west coast, the numbers are limited and the intensity is low. The deadliest cyclone was in 1964, the Rameswaram cyclone that wiped out the ancient township of Dhanushkodi and Talaimannar town in Sri Lanka. The cyclone in 1990 that hit Andhra resulted in over 950 deaths. In the recent past, the most severe cyclone was the one in 1999 that hit the Odisha coast.

Kerala had its worst experience during Cyclone Ockhi near the end of 2017. This caused around 100 deaths and many fishermen went missing. One can say that we were caught totally unawares by the onset of Ockhi. Its origin was over the southwest Bay of Bengal as a deep depression near Cape Comorin in the last week of November 2017. A well-marked low-pressure system was observed over the Comorin Sea at 0530 IST on November 29. This became a depression, crossed the Lankan coast and moved northwestward. Due to favourable conditions, the deep depression turned into a cyclonic storm by 0830 IST on November 30. The IMD issued a warning as early as November 28. But it was about a deep depression, which in normal circumstances causes heavy rainfall. Nobody in the state took it seriously; though the cyclone warning was issued later, the official mechanism failed to act in a timely manner.

This was a lesson to strengthen the disaster management system and the result was that the state was fully prepared to face the recent Cyclone Burevi. However, this cyclone weakened considerably before touching the Tamil Nadu coast. Hence Kerala was totally spared. But it has established that the disaster management authority could indeed take into account IMD's real-time predictions.

ISRO has contributed significantly to India's cyclone management system. Space-based systems have become the primary tools for collecting data on cyclones and cloud bursts. Recognising this need, the very first geostationary satellite developed by ISRO had a full-fledged meteorological instrument to take real-time pictures of cloud formation, note temperature and assess the movement. From 1982, this system has been providing visible and IR pictures to IMD, helping the latter make near-time forecasts before 24 hours. The IMD jointly with ISRO developed software for tracking a cyclone and making a forecast in its further movement, identifying the possible location of land impact.

In 2003, the INSAT-3D satellite was operationalised, which, in addition to providing cloud pictures, had a special IR scanner to obtain a vertical profile of temperature, moisture and wind in the atmosphere. This improved resolution in the visible band for the monitoring of mesoscale phenomena and severe local storms and enabled better land-cloud discrimination. The overall objective is to measure the temperature and humidity profiles to obtain a three-dimensional representation of the atmosphere. Today, two satellites, INSAT-3D and INSAT-3DR, provide continuous data to IMD and other researchers in India

IMD has the responsibility to establish and operate a ground-based data collection system. From 1950, it has established rain gauges and instruments to collect wind speed and moisture. In the early days, balloon experiments were the main source of data collection in the atmosphere up to about 20 km. The radiosonde was the most popular system then. With the availability of GPS and satellite-based data collection, this has undergone a sea change. Similarly, the data from the ocean surface is collected using buoys deployed at various locations that capture the temperature and wind. This is relayed through a geostationary platform in real-time.

> Sriharikota, the space port of India, is frequently haunted by cyclones. So monitoring the clouds and winds surrounding the launch complex is a basic requirement. One of the major spin-offs from ISRO is the Doppler weather radar

One of the major spin-offs from ISRO is the Doppler weather radar. Sriharikota, the space port of India, is on the east coast and is frequently haunted by cyclones. So monitoring the clouds and winds surrounding the launch complex is a basic requirement. Initially, the C-band radar was used to monitor the intensity of clouds for a distance of around 50 km. Due to embargoes, ISRO was forced to develop tracking radars on its own. Based on its experience, the design team came up with the idea of using Doppler extraction technique by which the wind profile could also be derived. The S-band is most suited for this; the first of its kind was developed by ISRO and established in Sriharikota. Later, this technology was transferred to BEL. IMD has several deployed now at key locations. There is a need for establishing a network of at least 100 such radars covering the entire coastal region.

ISRO has developed what is called an automatic weather station. The local rainfall, temperature, pressure and wind data are collected and relayed through satellite to the central station for analysis. Nearly 1,000 such stations have been established in different parts of India on a pilot basis. But this is only a small fraction compared to the need of at least 10,000 such stations covering the entire country.

The Indian remote sensing satellites provide valuable data on disaster management, especially on flood-affected zones, and also several vital parameters of the atmosphere like cloud coverage, temperature at different altitudes, aerosols, etc. The parallel development of hardware and software, and modelling the local atmospheric phenomena and global circulation has enabled us to make the forecast not only in real-time but also for the long term, synthesising the data from the satellites of the US, Europe and India and taking inputs from global simulations being carried out by a number of agencies to run our local prediction more accurately. We are capable of predicting events a week ahead reasonably well and 48 hours ahead very accurately. Communication to remote areas in a vast country like India was a challenge. From 1982, ISRO has been providing the emergency communication transponder, which could relay the disaster warning signal to every nook and corner of India.

ISRO has always been sensitive to the needs of society in this vital area of atmospheric studies and weather systems and works hand in hand with IMD to provide accurate weather forecasts and disaster warnings. Though we have powerful systems for observation and prediction, using this data effectively for disaster management has been a big challenge. Proper management systems at state and district levels have to take care of receiving the warnings and implement mitigation measures.

ON THE OTHER SIDE OF DIASPORA POLITICS

N SATHIYA MOORTHY

Head-Chennai Initiative, Observer Research Foundation

At a recent CII webinar, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar declared that denying the Indo-Pacific is 'tantamount to refuting globalisation'. While the comparison may be worth a separate study at this stage given that the universality of the former is yet to be established as with the latter, from a purely Indian perspective, the minister was right after all.

By the same token, it may be time India accepted the (select) universality of the oft-repeated diplomatic phraseology that reads 'interfering in the internal affairs' of a nation. Almost since Independence, India has been burdened to deploy the term whenever our neighbourhood adversaries (read Pakistan and China) or third nations negatively commented on events and developments in the country.

The frequency of such references have only increased in recent years, incidentally coinciding with the continuing reign of Prime Minister Narendra Modi since 2014. From the cow-slaughter ban to attended episodes of lynching, CAA and NRC protests, the reading down of Article 370 and now the farmers' agitation, global nations have passed adverse comments on the Government of India's handling of the situation.

As may be recalled, on every such occasion, the Government of India has repeated the tagline that they better desist from commenting on the 'internal affairs' of the country. It's a traditional defence that nations, including India, had offered in traditional times. Its relevance and application may be contestable at times, but there is need to note that even strategic friends like the US are putting their views on record, not to hurt India now, but to pile up a dossier that can be used to recite the 'I-told-you-so' line on a day and time of their choosing. Less said about not-so-friendly nations, the better.

Writing on the wall: Independent of the nuances of foreign governments' postures on such subjects and their expressions of disapproval, which our diplomatic community understand fully well and know how to respond to, the political class, especially their social media operatives sold on ideology, need to go beyond the obvious and learn to read the writing on the wall.

It is in this context that Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau's rebuke of India on the farmers' agitation assumes significance. There is no denying the domestic angle to Trudeau's reiteration despite the MEA ticking him off, as Sikhs from Punjab dominate the protest and also constitute a social and electoral constituency in Canada

It was after Trudeau's comments that the anti-farmer social media operatives suddenly remembered the Canadian connection of Khalistani terrorists who ravaged Punjab, Delhi and many other parts of India in the 80s. The worst irony is that even after the mid-air Air India 'Emperor Kanishka' blast that claimed 329 lives, including 268 Canadian citizens, in June 1985, the Canadian government of the day looked the other way on Khalistani fundraisers, ideological backers and political propagandists nearer home.

> For every Madison Square show that Modi supporters go gaga over, there is a CAA or farmers' protest in Delhi or a Kashmir lockout that gets sympathetic ears elsewhere

Human rights issues: Independent of the identity of the victims of terrorism or political protests, there are nations and governments across the world with a strong domestic constituency, all of them wedded to an altruist approach to human rights. They owe it to their historic past or ideological present. Canada is only one of them; there is Germany and the Nordic countries in Europe, apart from a host of others sprouting out of nowhere, after trampling on the rights of the 'natives' that their ancestors had exterminated without batting an eyelid.

Remember how in 2011-12, a Norwegian court denied a couple from West Bengal access to their infant children, three and one, following a 'child abuse' charge, which was otherwise attributed to 'cultural differences'. The Government of India did intervene and arranged for the court to hand over the kids to their uncle from India, but it does not happen all the time, especially when the Centre is being put in the dock as at present.

It is all in the other side of diaspora politics, which the BJP since the late nineties and PM Modi since he assumed office have been 'exploiting' in their favour for politico-electoral benefits back home. For every Madison Square show that Modi supporters go gaga over, there is a CAA or farmers' protest in Delhi or a Kashmir lockout that gets sympathetic ears elsewhere.

There is also the medium and long terms for India to think about. Whatever we had refused to acknowledge as human rights violations only a couple of decades ago—be it child labour, Diwali cracker pollution or environmental degradation—are now a part of our national laws and agendas, even if not ethos. And in the economic reforms era, when India is wooing MNC investors, more so in the last couple of years, we are ready to make all the labour law compromises that they want (no rights violations here) but they also keep setting and changing other norms and rules for our national behaviour on what they consider are human rights violations back home, without reference to Indian conditions and cultural inheritance!

Must be more vigilant

It is concerning that the new variant of the coronavirus is more transmissible than the original strain and affects children a lot more. Now is the time for us to be more vigilant.

Anugraha Asok, Chunakkara

Shouldn't let this snowball

The new Covid mutation is wreaking havoc in the UK and has impacted Denmark, Australia, Italy and the Netherlands. We must not allow this to snowball into another tragedy. India must extend the flight ban till the situation gets better.

BJP's inroads into Kashmir

This is with reference to Time to build on the gains from J&K DDC elections (Dec 24). It is good that the BJP managed to make inroads in the Valley for the first time. At least some sections of Kashmiris are reconciled to the nullification of Article 370 and aspire for development.

P Mangalachandran, Kannur

Good start for the lotus

The J&K election results show that people want development in all fields instead of atrocities. The lotus bloomed only in three places, but it is a good start.

Rejoy Suresh, email

Concentrate on peace

The BJP winning 75 seats in the DDC polls is a good sign for J&K. All parties that have won should concentrate on peace and development instead of fighting each other for the restoration of Article 370.

S Ravindranath, Bengaluru

A sign of development

The voter turnout of Kashmiris in the polls is highly appreciable. The BJP's maiden victory in the Valley is a sign of development. This should be strengthened by the administration so that the region is soon fully integrated with the rest of India.

Shanmughavel N, email

Reach out to people first

It is sad that whether it is the CAA or the new farm laws, the Centre seems to first get the law passed and start outreach campaigns once controversy erupts. It should first reach out to the people before presenting it in Parliament.

N Nagarajan, Secunderabad

Have faith in each other

The Sanyukt Kisan Morcha and the Centre seem to have a severe trust deficit between them. But both sides will have to walk an extra mile and show faith in each other for the issue to be solved.

K Nehru Patnaik, Visakhapatnam

Bedi is right

Former cricketer Bishen Singh Bedi has rightly taken umbrage at a move by the Delhi cricket association to erect a six-foot-tall statue of late finance minister Arun Jaitley at the Ferozshah Kotla Stadium. Jaitley's tenure at the helm of the DDCA was anything but memorable.

Nepotism in DDCA

Bishen Bedi has made corruption allegations against Jaitley. Kudos to the former cricketer for exposing nepotism in the DDCA.

What did Congress do for farmers? BJP challenges Rahul for debate

Javadekar says Modi govt has already disbursed ₹1.2 lakh crore while Cong bailed out banks

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

UNION Minister and BJP leader Prakash Javadekar dared Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Thursday to appear for an open debate on what his party did for the welfare of farmers.

Javadekar had recently accused the Congress of hypocrisy for demanding the withdrawal of the three new farm laws as the Contract Farming Act was passed when the party was in power.

"Farmers have been long demanding that they get remunerative price but the Congress neither ensured it nor accepted the recommendations of the Swaminathan Commission, something which was done by the Modi government after 2014 that resulted in more farmers getting MSP," he said. "The Congress has always cheated the farmers. While it announced loan waiver of ₹ 53,000 crore, it went to the banks. The Modi government has given ₹1.2 lakh crore so far, and will provide ₹7 lakh crore through Kisan Samman in the next ten years."

On Friday, Modi will be releasing the second tranche of funds under the PM-Kisan Nidhi benefitting about nine crore farmers.

On the occasion, BJP leaders will sit among along with farmers to listen to the address of Modi. Union Home Minister Amit Shah himself will be in the midst of the farmers in Delhi's Mehrauli.

Later, BJP national general secretary Arun Singh said Union Ministers, MPs, MLAs and other party leaders will sit with the farmers at 19,000 locations across the country to listen to the address of Modi.

The NDA government commemorates the birth anniversary of BJP stalwart Atal Bihari Vajpayee as 'Good Governance Day' on December 25. Modi will release a book in Parliament to mark the 96th birth anniversary of Vajpayee.

Singh said that 822 blocks, 435 mandals, 585 Gram Sabha which have population coverage of over 10,000 will see farmers in large numbers in Uttar Pradesh alone. For about one hour, the BJP leaders, including chief ministers, will share their thoughts with the farmers before the starts of the PM's address.

PROTESTERS DIG UP HELIPAD

Protesters dug up a temporary helipad which was prepared in a school where Dushyant Chautala's helicopter was to land for attending a function in his home constituency of Uchana Kalan in Haryana's Jind district on Thursday. Subsequently, Dushyant's programme was cancelled though the administration gave no reason for change in the Haryana Deputy chief minister's itinerary.

Agri laws need amendments, says Dushyant

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chandigarh

HARYANA Deputy Chief Minister Jannayak Janta Party leader Dushyant Chautala said that the three central farm laws need many amendments and urged the protesting farmers to give 'concrete suggestions'.

"I believe that many amendments should be there. On this, we have given many suggestions to the Centre earlier and they too agreeable on many suggestions. I think the Centre is ready to incorporate those amendments. I will tender my resignation the day I felt that I am unable to ensure Minimum Support Price to farmers in Haryana," he said.

Hoping that the farmers will resume the talks with the government to resolve the deadlock, Dushyant said the government was repeatedly inviting the farmer unions to talks. It is the responsibility of these organisation to give "concrete suggestions" regarding their demands, he added.

"If the Centre is ready to give written assurance on MSP, I think biggest demand of farmers is fulfilled. The major demand of the arhitiyas (commission agents) is tax should be at par in open market and in mandis. If that happens, our marketing board and mandis will flourish," he added.

The Jannayak Janta Party has a large base among farmers in Haryana. Some of its MLAs have already extended their support to the agitating farmers, forcing Dushyant to make his stand known repeatedly.

Focus on middlemen during paddy purchase

Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Thursday asked officials across districts to keep an eye on activities of middlemen during the ongoing paddy procurement in the state and ensure that farmers are paid within 72 hours. Stating that some people were trying to create hurdles in the paddy procurement, he asked the officials to take strict action against them. The CM also directed the police and administration to keep an eye on middlemen at the purchase centres.

'PM disburses funds when polls are around'

Ahead of PM Narendra Modi releasing the next instalment of funds for farmers under a central welfare scheme, the NCP on Thursday accused him of depositing money in peasants' accounts when polls are around. Maharashtra minister and NCP spokesperson Nawab Malik said the BJP is not a party of farmers, but of those who loot agricultural produce. "Modi saheb has begun this business of depositing money in (farmers') accounts when elections are around and senses troubles," Malik alleged.

'Ill-effects of farm laws are coming out in MP'

Former Madhya Pradesh chief minister Digvijaya Singh has alleged that farmers in Hoshangabad district have been cheated of ₹70 lakh through the new agricultural laws. Hoshangabad is the neighbouring district of Sehore, the home district of Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chauhan. "The consequences of the new agricultural laws are coming to the fore. The consequences of selling food grains in the open market by bypassing the Agricultural Produce Market Committees are now coming out," he said.

'PM's accusations are a complete travesty of truth'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Opposition parties have registered strong protest against the allegations made by the Prime Minister accusing them of "repeatedly lying" to the farmers about the new farm laws and "using them for their politics".

In a joint statement, the Congress, the NCP, the DMK, the RJD, the SP and the Left parties have said that the accusations are a "complete travesty of truth". Expressing solidarity with the protesting farmers, they said that the call for ongoing historic struggle was given by more than 500 kisan organisations from all over the country under the banner of Samyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM). "Many of us had opposed these agri laws when they were being enacted in the Parliament, without discussions, or, a proper consideration. MPs who sought a vote were suspended," it said.

Among the many unsubstantiated accusations, the Opposition said, one is that those who spoke of agrarian reforms in election manifestoes earlier but are now opposing. "Yes, we are for reforms, but what sort of reforms? Opposition parties seek reforms to strengthen Indian agriculture; enhance the prosperity of our farmers; and ensure continued food security for our people and the country. The present farm laws undermine these very objectives."

Likewise, the accusation that opposition parties are "shooting from the shoulders of the farmers" in order to "regain lost political ground". Despite all tall claims of improving farmers' prosperity and implementing a higher MSP, the statement said, the fact remains that farmers' distress due to indebtedness is leaving farmers with no other recourse other than committing suicides.

The unity, grit and determination being shown by lakhs of farmers is a testimony to the fact that the farmers across the country have risen in opposition to these farm laws.

25 flyers from UK under lens for new strain of Covid

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

SAMPLES taken from about 25 travellers, who have arrived from the UK over the last few days and have tested positive for Covid, are being further analysed to assess whether they carry the mutant virus, said a government official.

"The results of spike gene RT-PCR test take about 72 hours and are expected by Friday," said the official of the Union health ministry.

The Indian government earlier this week suspended flights from the UK until the end of the year over fears of the new strain. A detailed SOP has been shared with the states to carry out an epidemiological exercise to detect the new mutant corona virus.

Meanwhile, at least 12 passengers returning from the UK tested positive in Goa and Maharashtra. In a public appeal, Goa Chief Minister Pramod Sawant urged passengers who arrived in Goa from the UK over the last six days to get themselves tested or move into self-isolation. "I am making a public appeal. It is good for them, for the administration and Goa, if they voluntarily get tested," Sawant said.

In Meghalaya, entry of flyers from the UK into the state has been barred. The state government has also urged people who have recently returned from Britain or transited through the country to stay in isolation and inform it about their travel history.

Seven travellers from the UK to Telangana have tested positive for Covid-19, state health officials said on Thursday. Their samples have been sent to the Centre for Cellular and Molecular Biology (CCMB) to find out if they had been infected with the new strain of coronavirus.

> The results of spike gene RT-PCR test take about 72 hours and are expected by Friday
> Health ministry official

Indian authorities have said the new strain has so far not been found in India. However, the variant has already spread globally. Apart from the UK, the variant has been detected in Denmark, Belgium, the Netherlands and Australia. A similar but separate variant has also been identified in South Africa.

The UK variant is reported to be up to 70% more transmissible than those already prevalent. Preliminary data from the UK shows that the virus is spreading quickly in parts of southern England, displacing other variants that are circulating for months.

No change in UK PM Boris Johnson's India visit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

DESPITE concerns over the new Covid strain that originated in the UK, India is looking forward to welcoming British PM Boris Johnson as the chief guest at the upcoming Republic Day celebrations.

"You are aware that we had invited the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom as chief guest of Republic Day parade 2021. When UK Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab was here, he had publicly confirmed his acceptance. So we look forward to welcoming the Prime Minister," Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson Anurag Srivastava said to media queries if Johnson would visit as scheduled in the backdrop of mutant COVID-19 strain identified in the UK.

Currently, there is a temporary suspension of Vande Bharat Mission (VBM) flights from the UK over the COVID-19 situation and the ensuing travel restrictions, said Srivastava. "The ministry is closely monitoring the situation."

According to the ministry, under the Phase 8+ of VBM which is operational since December 1, 1,005 international flights have operated from 27 countries facilitating around 1.8 lakh people. "In terms of numbers, as on December 22, more than 40 lakh people have been facilitated through different modes of the mission," said the spokesperson.

After the discovery of a second new variant of the coronavirus, the UK has reported the highest number of single-day Covid fatalities since late April, on Wednesday with 744 fresh fatalities.

Police raid office of advocate fighting for Delhi riot victims

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Special Cell of Delhi Police on Thursday raided the office of advocate Mehmood Pracha, who is representing multiple accused in north-east Delhi riots cases which claimed at least 53 lives. He was also handling several cases related to the Citizenship Amendment Act.

The raid, which started at 12.30 pm and continued till late evening, was carried out in connection with a case of forgery and criminal conspiracy registered against Pracha on court order in August.

The search warrant authorised the police to search for "incriminating documents" and meta-data of outbox of email account which was used to send the incriminating documents. "During the course of investigation, search warrants to look for electronic and other evidence from the premises of two members of the Bar were obtained from the court and the same are being executed in a professional manner at one location in Nizamuddin and another at Yamuna Vihar," said a senior police officer.

According to sources, the police seized laptops, computer and other electronic devices from Pracha's office. In a video doing the rounds on social media, the advocate is heard asking the Special Cell team not to seize the computer saying it was in violation of the order.

The sources said while filing a bail petition, Pracha had allegedly submitted an affidavit in court that was notarised by a lawyer who had died three years ago. The police claimed the signatures on the affidavit were forged. The lawyer is also accused of tutoring riot some of the riot victims to give false statements. The additional sessions judge at Karkardooma court ordered Delhi Police commissioner to issue directions to the Special Cell or the Crime Branch to look into the allegations.

Following this, the Special Cell registered an FIR against Pracha under IPC Sections 182 (false information with intent to cause public servant to use his lawful power to the injury of another person), 193 (false evidence), 420 (cheating and dishonesty), 468 (forgery, cheating), 120B (criminal conspiracy) among others.

Dissent against state not criminal offence, says HC

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE Allahabad High Court has held that mere expression of dissent against the affairs of the state is not a criminal offence. The court on Wednesday rejected an FIR filed against a person for condemning the law and order situation in UP.

While hearing a writ petition filed by Yashwat Singh, a division bench comprising Justices Pankaj Naqvi and Vivek Agarwal said: "Expressing dissent on law and order situation in the state is a hallmark of a constitutional liberal democracy like ours, protected under Article 19 of the Constitution."

The petitioner had sought the court's intervention in getting an FIR, lodged against him by the UP police, quashed.

The petitioner had allegedly tweeted that UP CM Yogi Adityanath had turned the state into a jungle raj where law and order had no place. The petitioner was booked by the UP police authorities under Section 66-D of the IT Act and Section 500 of IPC (defamation).

The court said it did not find even remotely a commission of offence under Section 66-D as it pertained to cheating by presentation. As for Section 500 of IPC, the division bench said that the alleged tweet could not be said to fall within the mischief of defamation.

Cong kisses and makes up with Gupkar Alliance

Seven-party grouping can now control 13 out of 20 District Development Councils

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

AFTER contesting the polls against BJP and Gupkar Alliance, Congress in a U-turn has decided to support the seven parties alliance on Article 370 restoration in forming the DDCs in Jammu and Kashmir to keep the BJP away. With Congress support, the PAGD will wrest control of 13 out of the 20 districts in J&K while BJP will run six DDCs in Jammu region.

Sources said the Congress leaders are in contact with Gupkar Alliance and holding deliberations. J&K Congress vice president Ghulam Nabi Monga told TNIE that Congress will support Gupkar Alliance in forming the DDCs to keep the BJP away. "Our sole aim is to keep BJP away".

With Congress support, the NC, which is the major party of Gupkar Alliance, can wrest control of three other districts in Jammu region — Ramban, Rajouri and Kishtwar. However, in Poonch, the combine would need support of at least two independents to form the DDC and have its own chairman.

In 10 districts of Kashmir, the PAGD has on its own got the control of six districts (Ganderbal, Budgam, Anantnag, Kupwara, Kulgam and Pulwama) and with the support of Congress, the Gupkar Alliance can also wrest control of Baramulla, Bandipora and Shopian districts. The Srinagar district, however, is up for grabs as independents have won seven seats while PAGD and Apni Party has won three seats each and BJP one seat. All the parties are making efforts to woo the independents. Sources in Congress said the party is regretting not continuing its seat-sharing agreement with Gupkar Alliance and snapping it under pressure from BJP.

PAGD here to stay

Gupkar Alliance chairman and National Conference president Farooq Abdullah on Thursday said the alliance was stronger than when it was formed. "We are here to stay and nobody should have any doubt on it," Abdullah said. The Gupkar Alliance emerged as the single largest group with 110 seats in the hustings.

THE Congress and the Left parties will contest the West Bengal election in alliance, making it a triangular fight in the State, where the BJP looking to unseat Trinamool Congress.

"Today, the Congress high command has formally approved the electoral alliance with the Left parties in the impending election of West Bengal," said State party chief Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury.

The CPM central committee in October last had given clearance for an electoral understanding with the Congress to fight the ruling TMC and BJP, which won 18 of the 42 seats in Lok Sabha elections in 2019.

The announcement comes as the BJP has already launched a fierce campaigning for polls slated for March-April next year.

> Now that the Congress leadership has given a formal approval to the tie-up, we have to discuss seat sharing and it will be done at the state level
>
> Adhir Ranjan Chaudhury

"Now that the Congress leadership has given a formal approval to the tie-up, we have to discuss the seat sharing arrangement with the Left leaders in Bengal, and it will be done at the State level. We will fight against both the Trinamool Congress and the BJP. There will be no demarcation here," said Chowdhury.

Asked whether the alliance has picked anyone to project as its chief ministerial candidate, Chowdhury said, "There has been no discussion on this issue. Contesting the polls as one is the only priority," he said.

In the 2019 Lok Sabha polls, the Left parties failed to win any seat while the Congress won two.

In 2016 Assembly elections, The Left front and the Congress combine had won 76 out of the 294 seats in West Bengal.

PM elaborates on Tagore's Gujarat link; Mamata says didn't get invite

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

IN an apparent attempt to blunt Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's 'outsider' jibe at BJP functionaries visiting West Bengal, Prime Minister Narendra Modi, while addressing Visva Bharati University through video-conferencing on Thursday, said Rabindranath Tagore's family had links with Gujarat.

Such links, the PM said, show how states can learn from each other and prosper. Despite being separated by language, food habits and dress culture, India believes in unity in diversity, he said.

The iconic university is celebrating its centenary, but did not invite the CM to the event.

A larger message behind Modi's attempt to link the Nobel laureate to Gujarat is political in the poll-bound state where the Trinamool chief has branded the saffron camp as a party of non-Bengalis.

"When I speak about Gurudev (Tagore), I can't stop. When I came here last time, I talked about it; this time too, I will remind you of the connection between Gurudev and Gujarat. We need to remember, this enshrines the idea of 'Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat" said the Prime Minister.

Mamata said she had not received an invitation from Visva Bharati.

"No invitation came... they invited me earlier when they needed me. During Bangladesh Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina's Santiniketan visit, I was invited because they required me. It seems the programme was a BJP event, so I was not invited," she said.

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

EIGHTEEN sitting Congress corporators, including deputy mayor of Bhiwandi Municipal Corporation, joined the Nationalist Congress Party in the presence of NCP State president Jayant Patil and Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar. Congress leaders said that the NCP was violating the alliance dharma and setting the wrong precedent.

The Maharashtra Congress has been facing an uphill task in Bhiwandi municipal corporation. The local leaders are not happy with the party, resulting in factionalism.

Meanwhile, Maharashtra Congress spokesperson clarified that the corporators from Bhiwandi were only technically in Congress. "We had written to the administration to take action against them for anti-party activities. The file is pending with the regional commissioner. These corporators did not follow the Congress ideology. The NCP, which is the alliance partner of Maha Vikas Aghadi, should not entertain them by inducting them," Sawant.

An NCP leader said that they should not be blamed for Congress not being able to keep its flock together. "If we had not inducted them, they would have joined another party. Congress should be happy that they have not joined the BJP," he said.

BJP coalition wins BTC floor test

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

THE coalition of BJP, United People's Party Liberal (UPPL) and Gana Shakti Party (GSP) in Assam on Thursday won the composite floor test in the autonomous Bodoland Territorial Council (BTC).

The floor test was ordered by the Gauhati High Court on Tuesday. In the 40-seat council, 22 elected members lent their support to the coalition, headed by UPPL chief Pramod Bodo, by raising their hand.

However, the proceedings were mired in a controversy with the Bodoland People's Front (BPF) deciding to move the court again. The party claimed the pro-tem Speaker did not follow any procedures.

The BPF had sought voting through secret ballot. When it was not entertained, the members of the party raised a protest in the House by shouting slogans alleging murder of democracy.

The BJP-UPPL-GSP coalition, which struck a post-poll alliance, had formed the new executive council last week and appointed Pramod Bodo as the Bodoland Territorial Council's chief executive member (CEM), Gobinda Basumatary as the deputy CEM and three others as executive members.

BPF chief Hagrama Mohilary and six of his party colleagues had filed a writ petition in the court challenging the constitutional validity of the appointments.

Alleging violation of rules under Election Rules, 2004, they contended that since the BPF had emerged as the single largest party by winning 17 seats, it should have been invited by the governor. The BTC falls under the Sixth Schedule of the Constitution and the governor is its constitutional head.

After winning the floor test, Pramod Bodo slammed the BPF for "violence" during proceedings in the House. "They (BPF) didn't allow peaceful conduct of oath-taking ceremony in the House today. They had unleashed violence and hatred in the BTC over the past 17 years," he said.

The new BTC chief said it was "people's victory". and it would be a people's government.

"There will be democracy. We all have to work together to wipe off the undemocratic forces. Our coalition government will establish peace. Every community will get equal rights and respect," he added.

Rape accused MLA cites health to delay DNA test

VINEET UPADHYAY @ Dehradun

A rape accused BJP MLA who was directed to provide his blood sample for a DNA test by a CJM court in Dehradun has refused to so on health grounds. The court has re-scheduled the sampling on January 11.

On Wednesday, the chief judicial magistrate court of Dehradun directed blood sampling of the MLA, Mahesh Negi, for a DNA test. The test was due in the court at 11am on Thursday. But Negi informed the court that he would not be able to come for sampling due to health reasons. The MLA had allegedly complained of "stomach ache" shortly after the court direction the day before. The MLA's aide, Vishal Nayal, declined to comment on the matter saying it "is still sub judice". The order for DNA test came on a plea of a woman who had alleged in May that the MLA representing Dwarahat constituency had been raping her for several years and had fathered her daughter.

Allegations against Dwarahat MLA

The order for DNA test came on a plea of a woman, who alleged that the MLA representing Dwarahat constituency had been raping her for several years

The woman also wrote to the Prime Minister demanding a CBI probe in the case. In her four-page letter, she accused the BJP government in the state, and the police, of trying to shield the MLA.The woman also wrte to Uttarakhand home secretary, seeking a CBI probe.

In September, the police registered a case of rape and criminal intimidation against Negi and his wife after a direction of the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate. The court directed the police to start a probe into the charges.

10 unions boycott meet on labour rules

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

SEVERAL trade and labour unions on Thursday boycotted a virtual meeting called by the Centre for tripartite consultation to frame rules for four labour codes, saying physical presence of all stakeholders is necessary for such an exercise. They also sought separate meetings to discuss each code threadbare.

As for the RSS affiliate Bharatiya Mazdoor Sangh (BMS), it participated in the meeting and demanded that the new wage definition limiting allowances at 50% of the total salary should not be frozen. While the union cited the Supreme Court's verdict in a Vivekananda Vidyalaya case last year to buttress its point, the fact remains that the 50% cap would increase social security deductions like provident fund.

The BMS also demanded the scrapping of the maximum daily work hour limit set at 12 in the code, called spread over, saying most countries in the world do not have such a provision. Instead, overtime with double wages should be provided, it said. Also, for calculating minimum wages, the average family size should be taken as six members, it recommended.

The framing of rules for the four labour codes — The Code on Wages, The Industrial Relations Code, The Social Security Code and The Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code — is currently underway. Draft copies of the rules have been in public domain since November for offering suggestions.

While the government packaged the codes as major reforms, trade unions alleged that the provisions will expose workers to the hire-and-fire regime.

BJP's stellar show in council polls erodes Cong base

For a party that hardly had any presence in Bodoland Territorial Region till about five years ago, BJP's stellar performance in two autonomous council elections hints at the party's preeminence ahead of next year's Assembly polls. The saffron party bagged nine seats in the Bodoland Territorial Council election, eight more than its 2015 tally of one. It also swept the Tiwa Autonomous Council election held in parts of Morigaon, Nagaon, Hojai, and Kamrup (Metro) districts in central Assam. The party won 33 of the council's 36 seats. Its ally Asom Gana Parishad bagged two while one went to the kitty of Congress, whose popularity has depleted even as the BJP has emerged as a powerhouse. The Congress has been hit by factionalism also.

'Mechanisation at the expense of animals'

Chief Justice of India (CJI) Sharad Arvind Bobde said that mechanisation has relegated animals from a position of importance. Speaking at an orientation programme on Protection of Wildlife in Guwahati recently, he said that animals' importance has been ignored despite the history of our civilisation being the one where humans were closely associated with animals. After arriving in the city, and staying overnight, the CJI visited the Kamakhya Temple perched atop the Nilachal Hills. He also visited Mizoram and Tripura. In Mizoram, he laid the foundation stone of a project envisaged to protect the flora and the fauna. In Tripura, he offered prayers at the Tripura Sundari Temple, and attended a programme at the Tripura High Court.

Two more charged in Russia meddling probe gets Don's pardon

Outrage mounts as Paul Manafort and Roger Stone gets clemency, critics charge Trump of trying to erase Mueller probe; Jared Kushner's dad among those pardoned

WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump issued a series of new pardons on Wednesday for allies including the father of his son-in-law Jared Kushner and two confidants caught up in the probe into Russian meddling in the 2016 election that brought him to power. The pardons added to a long list he has granted in his waning days in office and sparked fresh outrage.

Among those pardoned were Charles Kushner, who pleaded guilty to charges including tax evasion and witness tampering in 2004, as well as former campaign manager Paul Manafort and longtime adviser Roger Stone. The trio were among 26 people pardoned and three who had all or part of their sentences commuted by Trump on Wednesday. They come only a day after Trump pardoned another 15 people and commuted sentences for five, including corrupt Republican congressmen and security guards convicted of killing 14 civilians in a 2007 Baghdad massacre.

Trump's pardon of Manafort, who was at the heart of the investigation by special prosecutor Robert Mueller into allegations of Russian interference in the election four years ago, triggered fury that Trump was trying to erase the probe he has always described as a "witch hunt."

Democratic congressman Adam Schiff, who heads the House intelligence committee, said in a tweet that "during the Mueller investigation, Trump's lawyer floated a pardon to Manafort. Manafort withdrew his cooperation with prosecutors, lied, was convicted and then Trump praised him for not 'ratting.'

David Axelrod, a political commentator and former aide to president Barack Obama, said of the move, "Everyone saw this raw sewage dump of pardons and commutations for @realDonaldTrump apparatchiks and loyalists coming ... Yet the spectacle is still appalling."

Republicans block changes to stimulus bill

WASHINGTON

A day after US President Donald Trump asked the Congress to amend the $900 billion stimulus package to raise the direct payments to individuals from $600 to $2,000, lawmakers from his own party blocked a bid by the House Democrats to do so.

The legislation includes one-time payments of $600 to most taxpayers, but Trump dropped a bombshell on the celebrations this week, hinting he might veto the bill unless the amount was increased to $2,000.

Democrats, who have been pushing for months to increase support, cheered Trump's statement, and House Speaker Nancy Pelosi challenged Republicans to support an amendment to boost the dollar amount. But Republicans refused to budge.

"Today, on Christmas Eve morning, House Republicans cruelly deprived the American people of the $2,000 that the President agreed to support. If the President is serious about the $2,000 direct payments, he must call on House Republicans to end their obstruction," she said.

India challenges Vodafone arbitration award in S'pore

To lay groundwork for the expected appeal against the Cairn award

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

India has challenged the ruling of a Singapore-based international arbitration tribunal that had dismissed its ₹22,100 crore retrospective tax demand on British telecom major Vodafone Plc. India had 90 days to appeal the September 25 ruling and sources confirmed that one has been filed this week.

On Wednesday, British energy giant Cairn had said that it has also won its case against India's ₹10,247 crore retrospective tax demand and subsequent seizure of its holdings at the Permanent Court of Arbitration, The Hague. In Cairn's case, India has been told to pay back $1.4 billion to the company, including interest and legal costs, to make up for the seizures of Cairn holdings in India and certain tax dues.

According to officials, the Vodafone Plc appeal lays the groundwork for GoI to also challenge the Cairn ruling. While India will not suffer a large cash outflow if the Vodafone case does not go in its favour (though it will no longer be able to seek the taxes), a failure to challenge the Cairn ruling would mean it has to shell out over Rs 10,300 crore at a time when finances are already strained. As in the case of Vodafone, GoI has 90 days to appeal the PCA ruling favouring Cairn.

Both cases have their genesis in the controversial decision by then finance minister Pranab Mukherjee to amend Income Tax laws in 2012 to make certain tax liabilities retrospective. The move, heavily criticised from many quarters since, had been taken after the SC dismissed the Income Tax department's tax demand on Vodafone-arising from capital gains made during its take-over of Hutchison's India businesses.

The apex court had noted that the tax liability was not applicable since the respective laws were not in effect during the reorganisation. While GoI did not seize any of Vodafone's holdings in India, the same was not the case for Cairn. Once Cairn initiated arbitration against the GoI's retrospective demand in 2015, the government seized, and later sold, the 5 per cent stake it held in Vedanta. It also seized dividends totalling ₹1,140 crore and a ₹1,590-crore tax refund due to Cairn.

Budget to up capex, but low tax inflow a concern

JAYANTA ROY CHOWDHURY @New Delhi

FINANCE Ministry mandarins working on the coming year's budget want to spend big on infrastructure, healthcare, defence, and incentives for industry. This year's expenditure budget is consequently likely to be at least 15 per cent larger than last year's and the largest spending budget till date.

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman has already said that "100 years of India wouldn't have seen a budget being made post-pandemic like this" and her officials have consequently drawn up one which could help spur growth, to try and deliver the economy out of the woods in a hurry.

However, demands for a host of tax sops from corporates and the salaried class, who have suffered immensely due to the ongoing pandemic, as well as demands for increased food and fertiliser subsidies come at a time when there are doubts on government's ability to raise enough tax. With the economy expected to be recovering after recording a contraction of at least 7 per cent this fiscal, borrowing is likely to be pushed up to record levels next year.

Capital expenditure is likely to be a record ₹5.5-6 lakh crore while the outlay for Productivity-linked incentives for sectors such as electronics, pharmaceuticals, automobiles, solar, and textiles is likely to be around ₹50,000 crore. These spendings are seen as growth drivers.

Officials were earlier working on estimates which called for pruning down subsidies, considered to be extraordinarily high at a budgeted ₹2.28 lakh crore for the current fiscal. But with the ongoing farmer agitation proving to be a political headache, officials said they are unlikely to be slashed by much.

The demands for tax sops are also being looked at with far more sympathy than in general, given the suffering caused by the pandemic. "Like every year, chambers and associations have come up with a host of demands for tax sops. But this time round, the difference is that most of them are valid demands—some for specific sectors which have been badly hit by the, some more generic... like setting off of losses etc.. For the salaried too, there are demands for sops as they have been hit hard by pay cuts, job losses," pointed out an official.

The problem is that with tax collections likely to remain muted after this year's GDP contraction, the Government's ability to hand out tax sop bonanzas will be severely curtailed. "All budgets are tight-rope acts, this year may be more so," an official said.

SURVEY

Independent directors face trust deficit

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

INDIAN investors feel that most listed companies have weak governance standards where insider trading, accounting fraud, and selling of company assets without the shareholders' knowledge is rampant, according to a LocalCircles survey. More than 21,000 shareholders who were quizzed also raised concerns over the role of independent directors.

"About 79 per cent of individual shareholders believe that the constitution of the Board of Directors of most Indian corporates is tilted towards promoters as many independent directors aren't really independent," said the report. For instance, the role of independent directors in Future Retail has recently been questioned and debated in courts.

The survey also showed that 65 per cent of individual shareholders believe that independent directors in listed companies are not acting to protect the interest of minority shareholders.

The objective of the report, which comes a day ahead of good governance day observed on December 25, is for the government to take action and increase shareholder trust in corporates and markets, LocalCircles said. The survey also found that 82 per cent of individual shareholders who participated believed that insider trading is prevalent in publicly traded companies operating in India.

Growth to break out into positive zone in Q3

- The central bank expects India's GDP to grow by 0.1% in the current quarter
- Growth is further expected to rise to 0.7% in the last quarter of the current fiscal
- This is to bring FY20 GDP contraction to 7.5%—2% lower than earlier feared

Economy reviving faster but inflation is a concern: RBI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

MORE evidence is in showing that the economy is pulling out of the deep abyss and is reflating at a pace that beats most predictions, according to the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) monthly bulletin released Thursday. However, efforts need to be redoubled to excoriate the "worm in the apple" before it hurts the growth impulses taking root, the central bank pointed out.

"A small window is available for proactive supply management strategies to break the inflation spiral being fuelled by supply chain disruptions, excessive margins and indirect taxes. Further efforts are necessary to mitigate inflation pressures," said RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das, adding that the monetary policy committee is closely monitoring all threats to price stability that could work against fiscal and monetary stimuli.

According to the RBI, there is also a priority for action in turning private investment away from its focus on precautionary actions and deleveraging to capex, capacity utilisation and building of new capacities—now more than ever. "Both experience and empirical evidence have shown that recoveries led by investment turn out to be durable and lift both consumption spending and exports in their wake," it said. While private investment is still slack, capacity utilisation has not fully recovered, and exports are on an uneven recovery, prospects have still brightened due to the progress made on Covid vaccines.

A revival in capital expenditure by the Centre and states in the second half of the financial year is also imperative for sustaining the momentum of economic recovery, it said.

"Capital expenditure, which collapsed in H1 FY21, will need to be scaled up as a priority. Public investment in healthcare, social housing, education and environmental protection is the need of the hour to build a more resilient and inclusive economy," it noted. In the first quarter, the Centre spent 21.4 per cent of the budgeted (BE) capex and states spent only 7.3 per cent.

Deadline approaching, Vivad se Vishwas scheme lags expectations

ANURADHA SHUKLA @New Delhi

With just a week before it is to end, the Vivad se Vishwas Scheme offered by the Income Tax Department is yet to meet the expectations of the revenue department. Officials lay the blame on the pandemic and a lack of manpower.

"Under the Vivad se Vishwas Scheme, so far, it was ascertained that a total of 45,855 declarations have been filed in Form 1 till 17th November, 2020 and the disputed demand covered by these declarations amounts to ₹31,734 crore," a finance ministry source said. The total taxes collected under the scheme till date stand at ₹72,480 crore, they added.

However this is far below the expectations of the Revenue department, which had hoped to realise at least ₹2 lakh crore under the scheme.

According to Shahank Saurav, one of the applicants under the scheme, despite tall claims and multiple clarifications, the ground reality has been very different. "The Income tax department is not issuing Form 3 (most important step in this Scheme) in those cases where assessee has filed appeal after 31 January 2020 (cut off date for this scheme) because assessment order was not served on the assessee. Service of assessment order to the assessee is a perquisite for filing appeal by the aggrieved party. This stand of tax officials is erroneous in law and against CBDT's own circular," he said, blaming the problems on the indifferent attitude of tax officials.

Revenue department sources admitted that there have been some complaints and said officials have been asked to adopt a proactive approach by regularly monitoring Form 3 issues for those taxpayers who have filed declarations, and completing any pending rectifications.

FY21 GDP fall expected to be milder: Ind-Ra

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

INDIA Ratings has revised its projections for India's GDP upwards for the current fiscal year, from a contraction of 11.8 per cent to a milder 7.8 per cent. The agency said this was due to easing Covid-19 headwinds and better-than-expected second quarter numbers.

The rating agency added that while the headwinds emanating from Covid-related challenges are unlikely to go away till mass vaccination becomes a reality, economic activities are also adjusting swiftly to the post Covid world. Ind-Ra now expects GDP to contract 0.8 per cent in the third quarter and grow by 0.3 per cent in the fourth quarter of FY21 against its earlier prediction for the economy to start growing in the fourth quarter of the next fiscal.

It has also pegged the Centre's fiscal deficit to touch 7 per cent of GDP in the current financial year. "The major reason for breaching the fiscal deficit target by October is a sharp decline in receipts," it said.

Flipkart implements large scale board restructuring

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

INDIA'S largest e-commerce player Flipkart has made big changes in its board structure amidst reports that the Walmart-owned company is considering an IPO as early as next year.

Flipkart will be inducting Group CEO Kalyan Krishnamurthy and three new members in its board—HDFC Vice Chairman and CEO Keki Mistry, and two new directors from Walmart: Suresh Kumar and Leigh Hopkins.

"I am also honoured to have been invited to join the board from next year, and along with both the existing and new directors, look forward to supporting Flipkart's next steps and growth journey," Krishnamurthy said.

Kumar is Walmart's global Chief Technology Officer as well as Chief Development Officer, while Hopkins is Executive Vice President of Strategy and Development for Walmart International.

Krishnamurthy, in an email to employees, said that the new year will see some changes to its board as four of its current directors will be stepping down after steering the company through the first two years after Walmart's investment. These include Rajesh Magow, Rohit Bhagat, Steuart Walton and Dirk van den Berghe.

Krishnamurthy also said that Bhagat has agreed to become the chair of the PhonePe board. "Because of PhonePe's significant scale and growth potential, we have requested Rohit to entirely focus on this role," he said.

While Flipkart hasn't officially announced IPO plans for IPO, there have been reports that Walmart may list it in the United States.

NEW OPPORTUNITIES

Warehousing, affordable housing to drive realty investments next year

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Bengaluru

WAREHOUSING and affordable housing will continue to drive investments into the real estate sector over 2021, followed by other capital-heavy sectors such as data centres and commercial office units, according to a report by global property consultancy firm Savills India. The firm added that private equity investments in warehousing and the industrial verticals are expected to touch $330 million the next year and overall warehousing activity is expected to increase by 60 per cent during the period. Investments in this niche segment are estimated to rise by 17 per cent.

"For the investor community and private equity players, the warehousing segment is becoming an asset class of choice in times ahead. While the leasing activity in the industrial and warehousing segment has declined year-on-year, we expect rentals to see a steady rise as quality supply gets added to the stock. The world of private equity would be aiming for some of their most lucrative opportunities in the time to come," Diwakar Rana, managing director, Capital Markets, Savills India said in a statement.

The likely repairing of the bruised economy, improving trade relations, policy support, and progress on the vaccination front are the key factors that would drive investment sentiment in the space going forward, with growth in sectors like manufacturing, logistics , e-commerce as well as overall infrastructure, translating into higher demand for investments. The real estate sector had been one of the worst hit in 2020.

The report also noted that there has been a growing trend of increased investments in ready-office assets, flowing away from the residential segment, since 2015. Investments into this segment has shifted further towards student housing, data centres, and warehousing bets, it pointed out.

Retail investments, on the other hand, were on a downward spiral even before the pandemic, primarily due to the steadily increasing adoption of e-commerce by Indian consumers and a lack of supply of premium quality retail malls.

BCCI ready to compensate ICC for tax

Proposal in AGM to have IPL games in more cities subject to Covid situation, GC to work on modalities of 10 teams

ATREYO MUKHOPADHYAY
@Chennai

THE BCCI is willing to compensate the International Cricket Council (ICC), if the central government does not grant tax exemption for the T20 World Cup to be played in India in October-November next year. This was among the matters decided at the BCCI's annual general meeting in Ahmedabad on Thursday. Also, IPL matches are likely to be played in more cities, not just the eight the franchises are based out of.

It was learnt that questions surrounding BCCI president Sourav Ganguly's possible violation of conflict of interest rules were not raised at the meeting, which lasted about three hours. The meeting approved increasing the age cap for domestic umpires from 55 to 60, compensation for players and match officials for domestic matches not played because of the pandemic and raising medical insurance for former players from ₹5 to ₹10 lakh.

GAME DEVELOPMENT MANAGER SACKED

The BCCI has sacked its General Manager (Game Development) KVP Rao, supposedly because of unsatisfactory performance. Syed Saba Karim, GM (Cricket Operations) was asked to leave earlier. No new appointment has been made in these two posts. BCCI is already without a fulltime CEO following the resignation of Rahul Johri.

Tax exemption for ICC events has been a thorny issue between the BCCI and ICC. For the 2016 T20 World Cup in India, this was not granted and the ICC deducted nearly ₹300 crore from the BCCI's share of the world body's revenue for taxes it paid. For the event scheduled next year, the BCCI has approached the government for tax exemption. There has been no decision yet. The ICC has asked BCCI to clarify this before December 31.

"Since the T20 World Cup is a premier event in international cricket, BCCI wants to host it. The matter is under consideration of the central government. Even if the exemption is not granted, the BCCI will go ahead and compensate the ICC by foregoing that specific amount from its share of the ICC's revenue," said a state association president, who attended the meeting.

Following a suggestion from the Saurashtra unit, BCCI decided to consider having IPL matches in more venues.

Pink ball doesn't change in twilight: NASA scientist

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

OUT of the many perceptions surrounding the pink ball, one that has got maximum air time is the mystique around the way it behaves during the twilight hour. Theories say it swings more during this time. Those theories, however, have been rubbished by Rabindra Mehta, a NASA aerodynamic scientist, whose pioneering work around swing and seam movement has been widely published. The only theory he does believe is of the new pink ball swinging a bit more because of the extra coating of paint.

"I can believe that initially, you can get some help from that because the extra layer of paint will tend to cover up the internal stitching or what we call the secondary seam," he says over phone from San Francisco. Why does this extra layer help? "The balls are made of four pieces, right They do have two-piece balls but they are not used in first-class cricket. You have the main seam, the stitching and going across perpendicular to it on the two sides you can see a line which is internal stitching. That produces a slight roughness. If you can cover up that roughness, it becomes more like a two-piece ball. That two-piece ball will swing more than a four-piece ball. So I can believe that initially, it swings more but all the other perceptions of the pink ball I believe are just plain rubbish, including this theory that it swings more during the twilight session."

In fact, Mehta, who moonlights as a consultant to various sports companies associated with golf, tennis and cricket among others, says swing/seam movement has no relation with weather conditions. "If they say it's a bit harder to see in the twilight period between the sun setting and the lights taking effect. That is a possibility. But as far as the ball and its properties are concerned, that's not going to change with respect to the weather conditions."

JOB SECURITY FOR MEDALLISTS: PANEL

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

PRIORITY of Covid vaccine for Olympic-bound athletes, hosting of more international events in India, financial security of medal-winning athletes and their coaches even after retirement, gender neutrality, life and health insurance for all Olympians and "stop slashing support to national sports federations (NSF) funds". These are some of the recommendations given by the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Education, Women, Children, Youth and Sports on the preparation for the Olympics submitted on Thursday.

The committee led by Vinay Sahasrabuddhe, Rajya Sabha MP, had listed out recommendations to the sports ministry. The committee suggested that the sports ministry and the NSFs must ensure players get enough international exposure and "get an opportunity to play maximum international tournaments before the 2021 Olympic Games", as due to Covid, there were less international/national events this year. Job guarantee scheme for all medal-winning athletes too has been mooted.

Sacrificing family time & unchanged XI

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

SOME 22 hours before the start of the Boxing Day Test, the mood in the two camps couldn't be more different. India have to do at least two changes and are said to be contemplating as many as five changes, including handing debuts to two. The hosts? Two days before the start of the second Test in Melbourne, coach Justin Langer was confident to predict that they would go in with an unchanged side unless 'something happens'. "At this stage, unless something happens over the next few days — and it can happen in the world we live in — we'll go in with the same XI."

Considering the visitors are in such a tight spot due to the absence of skipper Virat Kohli and Mohammed Shami, does that give the Australians, who are leading the three-match series 1-0, an upper hand of sorts? "It gives us an advantage but we need to keep working." When asked to comment on what he would have said if he was in India coach Ravi Shastri's shoes, he said: "None of my business. I've had enough stresses. I empathise with the opposition. If India are feeling any stress, I'm glad they are and not us over Christmas."

Australia coach Justin Langer | AFP

Even if all the stakeholders put out all the stops to ensure that the tradition of a Boxing Day Test would continue amid the pandemic, things have changed because of the bio-bubble. "It's the first time in 50 years I've been without my family. Many players and staff are without their families this year. It's one of the sacrifices we have to make in 2020. It's not ideal but it is what it is."
